

Copper in Architecture

15 Sycamore Avenue, Port Seton, East Lothian, EH32 0UA

www.aurubis.com

Graeme Bell, Tel: +44 (0) 1875 812144, g.bell@aurubis.com

Marleine Williams, Tel: +44 (0)1442 275705, cda@copperalliance.org.uk

CPD Overview

Copper and copper alloys (such as brass and bronze) are used as roofing and cladding materials throughout Europe. Copper and many of its alloys are also inherently antimicrobial, offering a family of materials from which hygienic touch surfaces (such as taps, door handles and light switches) can be made.

